Venture Capital Competition Team Advances to Carnegie Mellon

On Saturday, January 22, the Elmore Entrepreneurship Law Clinic held the third annual internal Venture Capital Competition at the law school. The competition continues to grow, and interest from more than 50 students led to our largest contest thus far. The teams heard pitches from two competing entrepreneurs: a local medical device company seeking $3 million in funding and a local alternative energy startup seeking just under $5 million. After a day of due diligence interviews, term sheet drafting, and negotiation with the entrepreneurs, Team Woodlawn (2nd year MBAs Michael Petersen, Steven Anderson, and Erika Vanover; 2L JD Josh Lipton; and 3L JD/MBA Michael Haanpaa) narrowly edged out the competition.

Congratulations to the winners, who will represent IU at the national VCIC competition in February at Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh. Special thanks to our judges, including Prof. Brian Broughman, who helped with training and judging.
